Why study in Finland

Study in the world's happiest country!

Finland is a member of the European Union and enjoys top rankings worldwide in surveys of competitiveness, quality of education and sustainable development. Finland is not only known for its spectacular nature and four distinct seasons, but is famous for its production and export of high technology. Finland is an excellent international study destination providing high-quality university studies, quality of life, equality, career opportunities and a safe and stable environment.

Finland is a progressive welfare country providing an extensive network of well-functioning public services such as health, childcare, education and transport. There are currently approximately 20 000 international degree students in Finnish higher education studies representing a global community of future experts.
